HILL'S Irises, Peonies and Hemerocallis

HEMEROCALLIS—HESPERUS

HILL IRIS & PEONY FARM

LAFONTAINE, KANSAS

1949

YOU CORDIALLY INVITED TO VISIT OUR GARDEN DURING THE BLOOMING SEASON.

Early Irises will begin in April with the peak of the blooming season near May 10th and the main season of bloom for Peonies a few days later. The earliest Hemerocallis bloom with the Irises and continue through the summer with the largest display near the end of June.

NATIONAL HEMEROCALLIS SHOW IN BARTLESVILLE, OKLAHOMA,
JUNE 25-26, 1949

Flower and garden lovers in the mid-west should not fail to take advantage of the opportunity to see a wonderful display of the finest of Hemerocallis at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, on June 25-26, when the Hemerocallis Society holds its annual show and meeting. The outstanding collections of Mr. F. E. Rice and Mr. D. R. McKeithan will be on display in their gardens.

We should have many Hemerocallis, including a number of seedlings, in bloom at the time of the Bartlesville show and we urge those attending that meeting to visit our garden. Lafontaine is approximately 60 miles north of Bartlesville and 25 miles northwest of Independence, Kansas.

SEASON OF 1949

This, our modest catalog for the season of 1949, continues our policies of more than twenty-five years of growing and selling plants. We wish to thank the many customers both old and new whose patronage has made 1948 such a successful season. We take as much pleasure from the kind letters of appreciation which our friends send as those same friends take in the flowers produced by plants which came from our gardens in other seasons.

Hybridizers continue to produce new and better varieties with even greater beauty and improvements in form or substance. We continue to try to select the best of the new varieties. Final appraisal of the true value of any introduction cannot be made except after wide distribution and careful study. We do not attempt to keep up with all the newest introductions by listing them in our catalog, but we do add new sorts as their values are established and their prices come within range of average gardeners.

Prices in general remain at a higher level than those of past years because of the higher costs of labor, transportation and packing, but you will find many substantial reductions in price in this 1949 catalog. The recent increase in postal rates tends to hold up minimum prices and prevent decreases in cheaper sorts, but we adhere to our policy of keeping prices as low as is consistent with a fair return for our efforts.

Our stock is field grown under average conditions and without irrigation. The vigor and quality of the stock produced under these conditions is unquestioned as it has been proved by years of experience in shipping to all sections of the country. The sometimes severe conditions of climate here in the midwest are a good test of hardiness and plants produced under such conditions do not have to be acclimated. Our plants are regularly inspected by the State Entomologist for diseases and pests.

This year our listing of Hemerocallis is considerably enlarged as these wonderful flowers continue to gain in popularity by leaps and bounds. Great strides are being made by the introduction of new form and color, and we are producing many seedlings.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Orders amounting to $3.00 or more will be shipped prepaid by parcel post or express in the United States. Iris or Hemerocallis orders of less than $3.00 should include 25c to help defray transportation and packing costs. Peony orders of less than $3.00 should include 50c for packing and transportation. Many of our customers instruct us to send their orders by express, transportation charges collect. This enables us to include extra heavy plants and extra count. Customers giving such instructions will be more than repaid by extras. However, we include extra value with all orders. Foreign shipments are not prepaid.

Terms: Cash with order. Payment should be made by check or postal money order. All offers subject to prior sale; prices may be changed without notice. We prefer not to ship C. O. D. as such shipment increases the cost and delays the time of delivery.

GUARANTEE

We guarantee all stock to be true to name, of first class size and quality and to reach you in live and healthy condition. We cannot guarantee that plants will live and grow in your garden under conditions over which we have no control.

We take every precaution to prevent mistakes in filling orders, but if any mistakes should occur, we will gladly make adjustment; however, we will in no case be liable for an amount greater than the purchase price of the stock.

TIME OF SHIPMENT

Plants will be shipped at the proper planting time and orders will be filled as promptly as weather and digging conditions will permit. Irises except for Siberians, Spurias and beardless varieties will be shipped during the spring, summer and fall. Hemerocallis will be shipped during the spring, summer and fall. Peonies, Siberian Irises, Spurias and beardless varieties will be shipped in the fall in September, October and November. The accumulation of Peony orders throughout the season will make it impossible for us to ship them all on the first of September, but orders will be filled as rapidly as possible and in ample time for planting.

IRIS CULTURE

Irises are not particular as to soil, but the bearded varieties in general prefer an alkaline rather than an acid soil. Their principal requirements are plenty of sunshine and good drainage and they will withstand severe drought if well established. They should be planted with the tops of the rhizomes level with the surface of the ground. Winter protection is usually not needed except in northern sections and in the case of late fall planting. Plant in raised beds if your garden is not well drained. Divide and re-set old crowded clumps to obtain maximum size and quantity of bloom. Beardless Irises, including Siberians and Spurias, do their best in good soil and with an adequate water supply. They should be moved in the fall when dormant and their rhizomes should be covered two to four inches depending on size and type.

Bearded Irises may be transplanted any time in the spring, summer or fall. Unless otherwise instructed we will assume that our customers want prompt shipment of their Iris orders, and prompt shipment will be made except when weather conditions prevent it. In the south and middle west where summers are hot and dry we recommend fall planting. Further north, summer is the best time to plant. We ship some Irises in the spring, before and during the blooming season, and such early planting gives the customer the benefit of greater increase, however, spring rains sometimes delay shipment and we cannot fill all orders during the height of the blooming season in early May.

FALL BLOOMING IRISES

We are proud that we have had a part in introducing and popularizing fall blooming Irises. Both their number and their quality have increased steadily through the years. The fall bloomers are at their best in the South where seasons are long enough to permit full development of the second crop of bloom, but many varieties re-bloom in central and northern sections. One of our southern customers has reported at least one bloom open every day in the year from a collection of our fall bloomers. Gardeners should remember that rapid growth is necessary in order to produce the second crop of bloom. This means more frequent transplanting, favorable conditions for growth and adequate moisture in the late summer.

Spring bloom of most of the fall bloomers is in the intermediate class as to season, height and size, but some of the newer ones are large and tall enough to be classed as tall bearded. A few of the early ones are dwarf in habit. The fall bloomers are perfectly hardy and are grown in many northern gardens for their spring bloom alone. Normally our fall bloom begins in September and continues until cold weather.

AUTUMN ELF (Brown)—Cream and lavender bicolor, this variety has re-bloomed in central and northern sections -----$0.25

AUTUMN FLAME (Sass)—A sensational new fall bloomer of large size and heavy substance, deep toned red bicolor--$1.00

AUTUMN HAZE (Sass)—An attractive soft lavender of fine form and large size, persistent and early in re-blooming, a real advance over Autumn King $0.25

AUTUMN KING (Sass)—Lavender blue bicolor, the progenitor of the race of fall bloomers -----$0.25

AUTUMN QUEEN (Sass)—Pure white dwarf of exceptional quality, a most persistent re-bloomer giving some bloom every month from summer to fall $0.25

AUTUMN SUNSET (Lapham) — This large blended pink brings a new color tone to the re-blooming section, good quality, vigorous -----$2.00

BOUNTIFUL BLUE (Hill)—A blue-purple that is very bountiful with bloom, not an exhibition bloom but makes a great mass in early spring and late summer and fall -----$0.50

DORCAS HUTCHESON (Sass-McDade)—An early and persistent pansy violet. semi-dwarf, up to 20 inches -----$0.25

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT (Sass-McDade)—This variety was awarded the Hutcheson Gold Medal for the best fall bloomer of its year. It is a deep fluorite purple self of fine quality. It has given a month of bloom in the spring and three months in the fall under favorable conditions -----$0.25

ENCORE (McDade)—A new blue from Martie Everest that re-blooms early and long -----$3.00

FAR SOUTH—Neat bright pure yellow of good form -----$0.50

DWARF BEARDED IRISES

After growing all the older common dwarf Irises for years, we have discarded most of them. In new dwarfs we think Walter Marx leads, and we are fortunate to be able to offer some of his best real miniatures in limited quantity. These, with our own and Paul Cook's Arenaria hybrids, give us an offering of distinctive new sorts that are the very best material for rock gardens and front borders. Most of the Arenaria hybrids, in addition to brilliant colors for massing, have the unique quality of extended falls, making them good to look down on or examine closely. Nearly all of them increase rapidly and soon make a solid mass of bloom.

ATROVIOLACEA — Earliest of all, makes a bright purple mass, true dwarf -----$0.25

AZUREA—Very early sky blue, four-inch -----$0.25

BLUE FLASH (Marx)—Light wedgwood blue, very dainty, five-inch, (Reflection x Chamaeiris) -----$2.00

BLUE MASCOT (Marx)—Almost a chicory blue self with semi-flaring falls, five-inch -----$2.00

BRONYA (Hill)—Deep red self with flaring falls. five-inch (Tony x Arenaria) -----$2.00

COME AGAIN (Marx)—In addition to the rich fluorite purple color this has the reblooming habit -----$2.00

INTERMEDIATE IRISES

Plant these early flowering varieties in quantity for a gorgeous mass display. They are very vigorous and free flowering and their medium height stems give a solid mass of bloom.

ABELARD—Rosy blend

GOLDEN WEST—Large yellow

SUSA—Velvety red-purple

These three varieties are priced at 25c each, $2.00 per dozen or $5.00 for three dozen.

CREAM TART (Hill)—Glistening cream and olive with a tart of red in center, wide extended falls, (Sdlg. x Arenaria) -----$0.30

ELF QUEEN (Sass)—Very pure white, six-inch -----$0.50

HEATHERBLOOM (Marx)—Hydrangea-red, unusual and attractive color, six-inch -----$2.00

KEEPSAKE (Paul Cook)—Bright golden yellow Arenaria seedling, great for massing -----$0.30

LADDIE BOY (Sass)—Velvety deep blue with two and three flowers to a stem, blooms late -----$0.30

LITTLE SKIPPER (Marx)—Standard's sky blue, falls West Point, charming bicolor, very dwarf (Azurea x Puck) $2.00

MIST O' PINK (Hill)—Misty red pink with slender stems and extended falls -----$1.00

MOONGLEAM (Marx)—Sulphur yellow self, semi-flaring falls, five-inch --$1.00

ROSEMIST (Sass)—Misty mauve pink, free flowering -----$0.25

TAMPA (Paul Cook)—Red toned Arenaria -----$0.30

TINY TONY (Hill)—Red purple, slightly darker than Tony and smaller with slender stems, five-inch -----$0.50

TINY TREASURE (Hill)—Ideal midget yellow self with wide extended falls (Ylo x Arenaria) -----$1.00

WEE ADMIRAL (Marx)—Velvety bright red purple with drooping falls. unusually fine in quality, six-inch -----$2.00

YELLOW FRILLS (Hill)—Free blooming frilled yellow, re-blooms in fall $0.30

BORDER IRISES

This new section now includes table Iris and some short stemmed tall bearded sorts.

AMIGO (Wmsn 1934)—Velvety blue and pansy purple with light border, probably the all time favorite Iris ----$0.75

ANGELITA (Alice J. White 1948)—A wee Los Angeles, white of fairy texture with faint plicata markings, tiny flowers on slender stems, 10-12 inches, limited stock -----$5.00

From Mrs. White's garden come two other border Irises: Sweet-pea Lady, a charming Amoena blend; and Smarty Pants, a saucy little low blended variegata that branches from the base. We offer these three for -----$10.00

ARIEL—Wide branching neat blue $0.25

COPPER FRILLS (Whiting 1941)—Rosy copper, all visitors to the famous Whiting garden have admired this showy little color gem -----$0.50

DAY STAR (Wmsn) — Creamy white with tangerine beard and haft ----$1.00

FRISCOETTE (Hill 1946)—So named because it is in color a miniature San Francisco, a dainty plicata, neat flowers on wiry stems, 25 inches -----$3.00

LA BOHEMIENNE—Buff and creamy blend of very attractive rounded form, vigorous -----$0.50

PALTEC—From the roof Iris, pure pale blue -----$0.50

PESHAWAR—This glowing rich brown purple is such a color gem and so perfect in garden performance that it deserves as high rank in this class as El-mohr in the tall class -----$0.50

ZINGARA—A perky and distinctive orange and red variegata -----$0.50

Hemerocallis
(DAYLILIES)

This year our list of Daylilies is considerably enlarged by the addition of a number of fine new varieties from leading hybridizers. Remarkable and rapid advances and improvements are being made in Hemerocallis, and they promise to continue for some time to come. No field seems to offer greater possibilities to the hybridizer and no flower gives greater returns to the gardener.

Daylilies are vigorous, healthy and easily grown, and a proper selection of varieties will grow almost anywhere in the country. Colors are bright and varied and new hues are constantly being developed, and a wide variety of types, sizes, forms and heights are available. With the right varieties it is possible to have bloom over a long period of time from spring to fall.

The rapidly growing interest in daylilies is ample evidence of their garden value and we urge all gardeners to try them if they have not already done so, or to see the newer varieties if they are familiar with only older sorts.

In our list, much of the descriptive material for Daylilies comes from introducer's descriptions, which we believe to be accurate. However, we should point out that height, size and season of bloom may vary considerably in different sections of the country. In our own garden some sorts are not quite as tall as in the originator's gardens but others are taller than heights listed by the producers. When more complete information is available it may be possible to classify all varieties as to season of bloom as early, early midseason, midseason, late midseason, etc. At present the season of bloom for some kinds is given by months, but gardeners should remember that this season will vary with the latitude and local conditions.

We are growing and studying many Hemerocallis seedlings and have a number which we consider quite promising. We hope that their future performance will merit the introduction of some of them. We also have a number of the most recent introductions of other growers which we do not list in our catalog because our stocks are too small.

CULTURE OF DAYLILIES

TIME TO PLANT. Daylilies may be planted during the spring, summer and fall. Local conditions will govern the best time for planting, which should be done at a time when the plants will be able to establish themselves and begin prompt growth. Fall planting should be early enough to permit the plants to become well established before cold weather. Daylily roots are packed damp and should not be allowed to dry out.

SOILS AND CULTIVATION. Almost any garden soil is suitable for daylilies. They will thrive in dry areas or in damp locations, among rocks, and in rich or poor soil. Too much shade may produce weak scapes or stems. Light cultivation to keep down weeds is all that is necessary. Deep cultivation too near the plants may injure the roots. Dead scapes should be removed after blooming. Dead leaves serve as a mulch throughout the winter and should be removed in the spring.

PLANTING. In planting spread the roots naturally and cover about two inches with pulverized soil. The exact depth will depend on the size and type of the plant, but it is usually easy to tell from the color of the leaves the depth at which the plant has been growing. Too deep planting is injurious. Firm the soil so that roots and crown are in good contact with the soil. Water after planting if the ground is dry.

DISEASES AND INSECT PESTS. Pests and diseases of a serious nature have never been reported for daylilies. Light attacks of leaf spot are sometimes observed and rarely plants may be attacked by thrips, but these infestations cause little damage. Daylilies are surpassed by no other garden plant in freedom from disease.

WINTER INJURY. In northern sections of the country daylilies which have the evergreen habit of growth may suffer some winter injury, but if plants are well established or protected by a coarse mulch the injury is usually not severe. Deciduous varieties are usually hardy. Evergreen varieties are at their best in the south but most deciduous sorts thrive there also. The deciduous or evergreen habit is not an infallible guide to hardiness but merely an indication. In our descriptions the habit of growth is indicated for many sorts as ev. for evergreen and de. for deciduous.

PEONIES

This year we have added a few new and outstanding Peonies to our list. We invite your attention to the special list of Hybrid Peonies. We predict increasing popularity for these fine varieties, as they need only to be seen to be appreciated. Heavy demand has forced us to withdraw a few sorts until stocks increase.

PEONY CULTURE

We begin digging Peonies about the first of September and continue until cold weather. The accumulation of orders throughout the season makes it impossible for us to ship all orders during the first week of September, but orders will be filled in ample time for planting. Most planting is done in September and October, but in southern sections you may plant in November and early December.

Peonies prefer a rich, well drained soil and full sun. Many types of heavy clay soils grow good Peonies. Do not plant too near trees or shrubs. The eyes or buds should be covered from one to two inches. Planting too deep will prevent bloom. Use fertilizer or compost if your soil needs it, but do not overfeed and keep fertilizer from direct contact with roots and crown of the plant.

Our prices are for standard three to five eye divisions. Long experience has shown that such divisions are the most satisfactory for the production of strong plants and good bloom. We have shipped Peony roots to all parts of the country for many years and have many excellent reports of their growth and productiveness.

HYBRID PEONIES

Visitors to our gardens have marveled at the beauty of the striking new Glasscock hybrid Peonies. Last year we made a long desired trip to the Glasscock gardens in Illinois and there we saw the most brilliant Peonies we have ever seen, indeed we doubt that there could be any more brilliant flowers. For mass display and for indoor arrangement they are simply stunning. We have been buying the best of the Glasscock hybrids for several years and consider ourselves fortunate that we are able to offer many of them in this list. We have also secured several new ones that we will be unable to list until later. Official recognition has repeatedly been paid to Mr. Glasscock by many awards to his Peonies from the American Peony Society. His introductions have ranked high in their classes at many shows during recent years. Nearly all the hybrids offered in the following list are Glasscock originations.

BUCCANEER (Saunders)—Brilliant red single, very large ----- $2.00

CHERRY RED (Glasscock)—Rose form double in a very brilliant red, dwarf plant ----- $5.00

CONVOY (Glasscock)—Tall, light red semi-double, strictly high class. $20.00

CRUSADER (Glasscock) — Semi-double bright red, five rows of petals with center of yellow stamens ----- $10.00

DAINTY LASS (Glasscock)—Finest pink Japanese type, soft coral with yellow staminodes ----- $5.00

DAUNTLESS (Glasscock)—Remarkable glossy dark red single, very large and tall, strong ----- $10.00

FLAME (Glasscock)—The name describes this brilliant large wide spreading beauty. We first saw it in the Court of Honor display at the Lincoln National Show and have had very fine bloom for several years but have repeatedly sold out. Now Mr. Glasscock has had to withdraw it because of scarcity of stock. We have only a few plants for sale this year ----- $10.00

GAY CAVALIER (Glasscock)—Scarlet red single, tall and strong ----- $5.00

ILLINI BELLE (Glasscock) — Bright black-red semi-double, five rows of rounded petals ----- $10.00

ILLINI CHIEF (Glasscock)—Very brilliant orange-pink, single ----- $10.00

LADDIE (Glasscock) — Bright scarlet single, latest and largest of the cut-leaved sorts ----- $10.00

Recent Iris Introductions

From R. L. Lyell

We have been visiting Lyell's garden at Auburn, Nebraska, annually for years and have been impressed with the fact that he has seedlings of much more than ordinary merit. The following are his own careful selections from several seedling crops. To show that they come by their excellence through inheritance we give the crosses. We believe that Iris lovers will recognize their value as soon as they are widely distributed.
